"APOLLINARIS."

The New York Me ical Journal recently published an interesting item on mineral waters. It seems that the lay public is likely to confound table waters with medicinal waters, containing active chemical substances, which cannot safely be included as part of the ordinary daily diet. The article says that greater from $2.00.

attention is being directed to dietetic waters more generally called table waters, which, if pure, are of great value as hygienic Fresh supplies of the new Doveloping Agents: aronts, and it recommends waters like Apollinaria, which is regarded as the leading dietetic table water.

1893, With which is incorporated THE CHINA DIRECTORY. This is the THIRTY-FIRST ANNUAL ISUE. and will be found, as usual, to show an advance on preceding years both in fullness and accuracy of information.

The DIRECTORY covers the whole of the ports and cities of the Far East, from Penang to Vladivostcok, in which Europeans reside. Not only is the Directory as full and complete in each case as it can be made, but each Colony, Port, or Settlement is prefaced by a DESCRIP-TION, exrefully revised each year, some of which will serve as accurate Gurnes for the Tourist, giving every detail in connection with the places, their History, Topography, &c., &c. The Information afforded in these Descriptions alone would sufflee to fill an ordinary volume, consisting of over Eighty highly interesting articles, packed with facts concisely set out, and containing statistics of the Trave of each Country and Port.

with China and the establishment of extra-Great Britain:-Nanking, 1842, Tientsin, territoriality Great Britain urged on the other European Powers the desirability of their also entering into treaty relations and appointing officers to exercise jurisdiction over their nationals, in order to avoid the scandal likely to arise from the presence of lawless Europeans who, in the absence of any authority of their own nationality, might have to be dealt with by the Chinese Authorities. For men of European race to be exposed to the discipline of the Chinese criminal courts, whatever their deserts might be, would, it was felt, be an outrage on humanity and an indignity to foreigners in general. This view was generally concurred in and it is seldom that any one is found in China who is not subject to the jurisdiction of the Consular authority of some nation. CANTON NOTES.

FROM NATIVE PAPERS Intelligence has been received from Nanhung chow, which is situated in the North east of Kwangtung, to the effect that on the 27th ultimo a slight earthquake was felt, lasting a few seconds. On the lat instant another v bration took place, of a more alarming character. During the early part of the day the sun shous brightly, but about three o'clock the weather anddenly changed, the houses were distinctly felt rocking about, and the inmutes at once rushed from them into the streets. Fortunately the disturbance ended in a few seconds and no damaga was done. Channg Lün-kwei, the Governor of Kwangei, arrived at Canton on the 10th instant: He stayed in his official boat and did not land. On the 13th instant he went on board a Chinese gunboat, the Kwing-tuk, from which he will shortly embark on a stermer for his destination (Paking). Their Excellencies the Vicercy Li and Governor Kinng have paid official visits to him and asked him to give their best compliments to the Emperor for them.

11th March. "he public offices in the city were opened on Wednesday last, and all the officials were at their posts to attend to the duties of their different departments, though really, in most cases, as a matter of form rather than for work, so immediately after the holidays. The Vicercy's office was the exception. His Excellency, before an assembly of officials ordered to meet him, stated, that the holiday ibeing at an end, immediate steps must be taken to relieve the people of the high pricardling for rice owing to its sourcity. He reproved them for having allowed the scaroity to continue so long; with wire and steam, to bring in supplies at a short notice, there was no exous for them; and he gave them notice that if in a month's time the supply was not sufficient to bring about a reduction in price he would hold them responsible. After hearing this, the gossips in the city predict plenty of rice and cheap prices in a very short space of time.
